To Whom This May Concern,

I had the absolute pleasure of supervising Riley Scott during the summer of 2018 while she was a public relations intern at Nicholas & Lence Communications. From her very first day at Nicholas & Lence, Riley not only demonstrated her great command of communication and networking skills, but was an intelligent, prompt and courteous team player.

As an intern, Riley headed up research for our over forty clients and through public relations media monitoring platforms such as Cision and TV Eyes, compiled press reports that were compromised of high profiled newspapers, magazines and online sources to present to clients. Riley was also able to visit many of our clients, such as Times Square attractions National Geographic Encounter: Ocean Odyssey and Opry City Stage and received a hands-on experience of client relations.

Anyone who has Riley as part of their team is very lucky to have her and I know whatever future endeavors she may pursue, she will represent the company in the best possible light.

Please feel free to reach out to me for further reference, if necessary.

Regards,
